

As a consumer of news, I want to get as many perspectives on an issue as possible. I do not feel that concentration of media ownership in the hand of one or two media giants, especially when those companies are controlled by media mogels with ideological control, is best for America. Please don't cloud the issue with an illusion of a changing media market which in reality will just restrict news coverage and diversity of opinion.

Thank you,
Frank Novello